PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Greetings and welcome to Line Seiki's new website!

This is our newest tool for enabling you, our customer, to reach us more efficiently and get the latest information on our extensive product lines. You will find here not only a catalog of our available products but also information on additional applications and industries that may be served by our counters and equipment. Whether you are a corporate client with industrial needs or a hobbyist looking to add to your gear arsenal, you may find what you are looking for here.

This website also marks the beginning of a new era of doing business for us here at Line Seiki. After six decades of success in Japan and the Asia Pacific, we are now reaching out to clients in other parts of the world, aided by technology that breaks barriers and builds bridges. Indeed, the world is getting smaller every day and we can no longer allow distance or geography to hinder our growth. As a company that has evolved through innovation and technological breakthroughs, we now embrace technology to keep us connected to you.

Our success is driven by the simple fact that we value people and the relationships we have built with customers and employees over the years. So although we have added this website to our existing communications channels, rest assured that we will maintain our personalized way of doing business with you. After all, this website only fuels our drive and our commitment to honor our commitment to our customers and to provide a venue for our employees to realize their dreams.

For us at Line Seiki, business is a continuous process of problem-solving. We have grown over the past sixty years through this principle of unrelenting dedication to our expertise, and it is this drive for excellence that motivates us and our team every day. We thank you once again for your continued support, and we look forward to more years of doing business with you.

Yours Truly,

SHUNJI OYABU
